

अवर्त—See note on अवर्त supra p. 25.

P 30. पुनर्वसु (2nd) will prosper. पुनर्वसु (2nd) will fall, will be ruined. Some read पुनर्वसु in which case the meaning is 'As often as you will be deprived of good company, so often &c.'
पुनर्वसु—mark the double entente on the word पुनर्वसु which is a name of Gauri, the goddess, and also means a young woman.
पुनर्वसु—(which is a sign of extreme joy.)

पुनर्वसु—not knowing definitely what to do, completely at his wits' end.

पुनर्वसु—hurried, bewildered. The other form is पुनर्वसु.
पुनर्वसु—A word irregularly formed from पुनर्वसु water and पुनर्वसु &c.—misfortunes come not singly; difficulties never come alone.

P 31. पुनर्वसु—not artificial or counterfeit, sincere, real.
पुनर्वसु &c.—(Gen. Lat.) the sports i. e. the fruits of a series of my own actions. पुनर्वसु &c.—which are good or bad and which happen at the lapse of a particular period of time (i. e. as each becomes ready to give its fruit.) पुनर्वसु—a series of births and rebirths.
पुनर्वसु—has injury at hand, i. e. is always subject to dangers and difficulties. पुनर्वसु &c.—Note the construction पुनर्वसु—what is produced, all created things. पुनर्वसु &c.—transient, perishable. The roots पुनर्वसु, पुनर्वसु and पुनर्वसु (पुनर्वसु) take the affix पुनर्वसु. Pan. III. 2. 161.
पुनर्वसु—a medicine that never fails to produce its effect. a sovereign remedy.

P 32. पुनर्वसु—p. p. of पुनर्वसु with पुनर्वसु to be near, to approach. पुनर्वसु &c. पुनर्वसु—by virtue of his own action, by his own fault.

पुनर्वसु &c.—This is what is called the पुनर्वसु in drama. It is usual with Sanskrit writers to end their work with good wishes for the welfare of their readers, their country, &c.
पुनर्वसु—a newly wedded wife (पुनर्वसु + पुनर्वसु). पुनर्वसु &c.—पुनर्वसु—he who has the crescent-moon for his crest-jewel; Siva. Here पुनर्वसु means 'a portion of'.